BUILDING UPDATES | NEW FRIENDS | TALES OF SABLE

Makalali, Rocket, Resolutions, and more.

We're excited to share that the volunteer building at the Askari Reserve has recently undergone some much-needed updates, made possible through the support of our team, volunteers, and friends around the globe. These improvements include enhanced facilities and refreshed spaces designed to better serve the incredible teams who are central to our conservation efforts.

The updated building provides a more functional and comfortable environment for our team to collaborate, rest, and recharge after a day of working with the unique ecosystems and wildlife of Askari. These changes reflect our shared commitment to creating a strong foundation for the work we do together.

Your contributions have a direct and meaningful impact, ensuring that our volunteers have the tools and spaces they need to thrive. We hope to share more updates soon.

We're grateful for your support and look forward to continuing to make a difference together.

A

new civet has joined the Askari family, Rocket, and through weeks of nurturing and patience, Rocket has been thriving in his new home. He was released from the boma into the Langa-Langa / Pidwa East system successfully on 5 January 2025.

VOLUNTEER SEASON IS IN FULL SWING!

Looking to make a real impact on wildlife conservation?

Join us as a volunteer at the Askari Wilderness Conservation Programme!

This unique opportunity allows you to work alongside a dedicated team protecting one of Africa's most beautiful and diverse ecosystems.

As a volunteer, you'll participate in hands-on conservation projects, wildlife monitoring, and habitat management, all while gaining valuable skills and unforgettable experiences. Whether you're tracking animals in the field, removing invasive species, or assisting with reserve maintenance, your efforts directly contribute to preserving the natural beauty and biodiversity of Askari. No prior experience is necessary—just bring your passion, curiosity, and a willingness to get your hands dirty!

Volunteering at Askari is more than an adventure; it's a chance to be part of meaningful change.

Head to our website for more info on what we do and how you can get involved!
